

Service channel report

A fictional mixed-content document

The following chart summarises fictional requests received during July. The surrounding paragraph is extractable text, while the chart itself is a raster image.

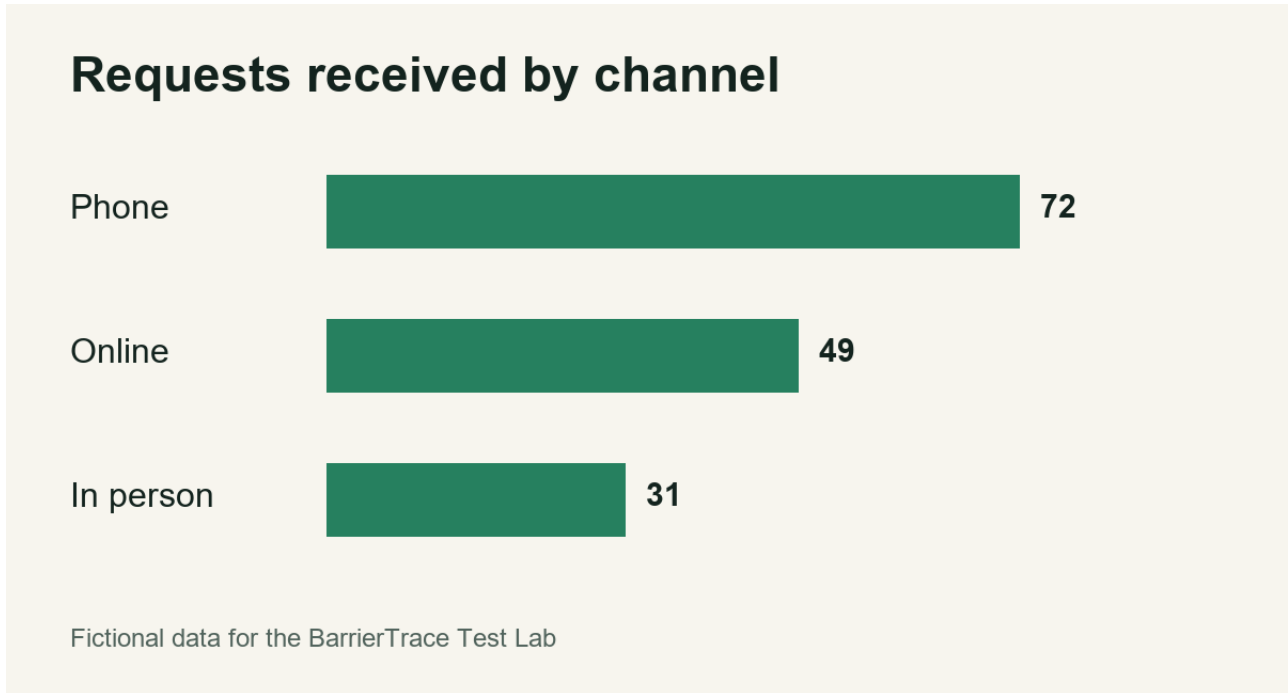

Figure 1. Requests received by channel.

Review boundary

A parser can detect that this page contains both text and an image. It cannot infer a trustworthy alternative description or chart meaning from PDF structure alone. OCR or vision can assist, but a person must verify the result.